Oran Perry and Samuel Lovinger of this city have filed their petitions in bankruptcy.

Prof. C. A. Wegman has accepted the position of organist at St. Paul's cathedral.

Mrs. A. E. Allen, of Philadelphia, daughter of Charles A. Dean is in the city on a visit.

There will be social entertainments at the Third and Seventh Presbyterian churches this evening.

Pleasant Bond, a high-school teacher, was thrown from a buggy yesterday, sustaining a sprained knee.

Rev. Mr. Bradley's lectures on the "Virtues needed in our times" will begin next Sunday evening in Christ church.

The Hendricks county circuit court jury in the suit of the State vs. the Indianapolis water works company, disagreed. Another trial will be necessary.

The formal opening of the Bates house took place last night. The register showed two long pages of arrivals, transients, etc., which is good for a beginning.

The jury in the Scanlon-Negley seduction suit, after 25 hours consultation returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,200. Six of the jurors held out for $5,000 until nearly the last.

John W. Geiger, of Cicero, the sewing machine man, arrested at Toronto, Canada, charged with forging notes on private parties at Noblesville and on the Citizens' national bank, was brought to the city yesterday and lodged in the station house.

Mr. George Peck is in the city arranging for the coming of the Tom Thumb combination, which will be here on Friday and Saturday of next week at Masonic hall. The troupe consists of Tom Thumb and wife, Major Newell and others, and their comedy of "The mischievous monkey" will be given.

The following officers were installed in Stenehouse grove No. 11, U. A. O. D. last night: P. A. James H. Russell; N. A. Wm. Smith; V. A. Thomas S. Stephens; secretary, Will F. A. Bernheimer; treasurer, Thomas O. Moore; conductor, N. W. Reynolds. Nelson W. Reynolds was elected trustee for 18 months.

Henry Jackson and Albert Johnson, both colored, lodging at the home of Mrs. Holmes on Mission street, had a difficulty yesterday brought about by Johnson charging Jackson with associating with lewd women. The charge was answered by Jackson cutting his opponent with a knife several times on the head and neck. The wounds are neither deep nor dangerous. The offender gave himself up and was lodged in the station house.

A Good Work.

For a few years the Episcopal church has been taking great interest in the deaf-mutes; and Dr. Galland, of New York, has arranged services for these afflicted people, in the leading cities of the country. One deaf and dumb man has been prepared for the ministry, and is taking the doctor's place in this missionary work. This is the Rev. Mr. Mann, and on Sunday the rector of Christ church, Mr. Bradley, assisted him in a service here. All the deaf and dumb at the institute and about the city were notified, and about 300 assembled for worship at Christ church last Sunday. It was a most impressive scene. The services and sermon were silently given in the sign language, except that Mr. Bradley baptized three children, the missionary interpreting the rite.

The Ives & Porter Failure.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the United States district court at St. Louis on behalf of Ives & Porter, late proprietors of the Bates house. The liabilities are about as follows: Creditors noted, $44,000; unsecured, $19,000; notes and bills discounted, $55,000. The assets consist of the furniture and appointments of the Bates house, valued at $25,000, and minor assets of the individual estates of the parties.

The People's Church.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News:

INDIANAPOLIS, October 31, 1877.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the People's Church of Christ it was resolved to give the public a brief account of the organization of that church. It was organized March 1st, 1877, with Rev. C. H. Sparks pastor, taking the old and new testament scriptures as their only rule of faith and practice. The object of the church is to meet as we think the wants of the neglected poor of our city, both of body and soul, and this special field of labor demanding such attentive work, and we believing Brother Sparks to be a suitable laborer in this direction, we have resolved to call him to the ministry alone, and we cheerfully recommend our much esteemed and worthy brother to the confidence and respect of all.

We being poor and as a church unable within ourselves to meet all the necessities of our church, we respectfully solicit any free will offerings from the people in aiding the prosecution of the work in order to continue these church privileges to all. Any contributions may be handed or sent to Rev. C. H. Sparks's residence, No. 230 Buchanan street, or to Levi H. Rowell, president of the board of directors, residence Shelby street. All of which we respectfully submit.

THE NEW MINISTER TO ENGLAND.

Mr. Welsh's Acceptance—A Brief Sketch of His Life and Public Services.

[Philadelphia Record.]

The appointment of Mr. John Welsh to the English mission is understood to have been accepted by the gentleman, though his friends in Philadelphia failed to get a day to secure the reply from his own lips.

Mr. Welsh was born in this city in 1805, and was one of three sons of John Welsh, now deceased, who came from New Castle, Del., to Philadelphia in 1786. In 1834 two of the sons, succeeded their father, formed a new firm under the title of Samuel & William Welsh, which to-day is composed of these gentlemen, of the new English minister and John Welsh, jr., a son of William Welsh.

Mr. John Welsh had for many years been a member of the firm of Welsh & Wilcox, who did a heavy business in dry goods on the north side of Market street, between Third and Fourth. He did not become a member of the firm of S. & W. Welsh until the death of his father, in 1854. For some years he was a member of council, and during a long period has been president of the sinking fund under both political parties, while his only other political position has been a member of the Fairmount park commission since June, 1862. At the present time he is also president of the Philadelphia board of trade and a director of the manufacturers' and mechanics' bank and in the Philadelphia bank.

Concerning Mr. Welsh's interest in the movements which have transpired in his native city, it is due to him to say that the more than $1,000,000 realized by the board of directors, in the first meeting of the board in April, 1877, his services, and they have not yet been properly recognized last winter by the subscription of $50,000 by his fellow-citizens, which at Mr. Welsh's own suggestion became the endowment of the "John Welsh professorship" in the university of Pennsylvania. Beyond the establishment of this professorship, it was largely through Mr. Welsh's efforts that the new buildings of the university in West Philadelphia were erected and paid for. He is an active member of the Protestant Episcopal church, and was one of the founders and largest contributors to the Protestant Episcopal hospital. Mr. Welsh is a widower and his family consists of four sons and four daughters.

Gossip About Holmes.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is writing a monograph on the late Mr. John Lothrop Motley. The manual work of this—as of everything else he writes for publication—is done with a broad gold pen, fixed into a quill handle. The doctor says he has used this pen for twenty years, keeping a steel pen for writing "letters, and that sort of thing." He writes only in the morning, and gives about three hours a day to literary work. He does not care to write longer than that, and is said to dislike very much what is called "contract work." He seldom reads now what is not immediately useful to him, and is no devotee of novels. He told a writer for the Boston Herald the other day how his chief work happened to be written. "Elsie Venner" was written with a purpose, but most of his books had their origin in some felicitous idea which came to him in a happy moment. Of the "Autocrat" he said: "When Mr. Lowell was editing the Atlantic he applied to me to write something for it. I thought I was a little out of fashion, and did not much fancy the job. I sat down, however, and wrote a number, and that number was so well received that I wrote away until I had finished the series. I did not write my novels for the market, but to develop some idea of mine. The poet at the breakfast table has a great many ideas of mine also."

Cook and Murray as Students.

A fellow student of the distinguished Boston clergymen, Cook and Murray, says that when they were in Yale together they both stood low in scholarship, Murray graduating about the middle of his class, and Cook occupying about the same relative position as long as he remained in the college. They were both good debaters, Murray carrying his determination to speak on every occasion to such a degree that he frequently "bored" his classmates. They were both good writers and frequently competed for prizes. Murray was arranged services for these afflicted people, in the leading cities of the country. They were both long winded, and neither methodical in the arrangement of a subject. Murray played upon the surface and Cook often got lost in grappling with the kernel of a question. Neither had an adequate idea of mathematics beyond algebra. We have seen Cook when called upon to demonstrate the simplest proposition of Euclid, take his seat thoroughly disgusted with himself, after a vain attempt at demonstration."

A Dramatic Duel.

[New York World.]

Summer before last, when General Judson Kilpatrick was canvassing Indiana for the republicans, he spoke of General Forrest in such a way that the latter challenged him to fight a duel. As soon as the challenge was sent Forrest wrote to General Basil Duke, of Kentucky, that in case his invitation was accepted—which he did not doubt for a moment—he would call on Duke to be his second. The letter further said that in the necessary arrangement he would like General Duke to insist that the duel should be fought on horseback with sabres, as that was the proper way for two cavaliers to meet. General Duke at once engaged for his principal a steel for the encounter—a horse recommended by his owner to go over a church steeple if necessary—and awaited General Kilpatrick's reply. Kilpatrick, however, declined to fight, on the ground that he and Forrest "did not move in the same social sphere." Had this duel taken place, it doubtless would have been conducted in a style delightfully dramatic.

CITY NEWS.

Thermometer.

Gen Charles Cruik, of Terre Haute, is registered at the Grand Hotel.

The proposition to close the drug stores on Sunday has been laid upon by the wicked ones of the trade.

The price of old corn is merely nominal, as at the present freight rates buyers can not afford to pay the ruling prices.

Father Bonson, who went to Vincennes yesterday, will return on Monday to take part in the obsequies of the late senator.

Joseph Wombach is in custody on a charge of an assault upon his sister-in-law with intent. His trial will occur to-morrow.

No business of consequence was transacted in any of the courts to-day. Judge Gresham adjourned the United States court to Tuesday.

A South Illinois street merchant, finding the clothing business somewhat dull, is devoting a large part of his time to the potato trade.

J. K. Sharpe is erecting three dwellings in the rear of his residence on Delaware street. They will cost $5,000 each, and will be completed in ninety days.

Senator Morton leaves an estate variously estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000. It consists of city real estate, a farm in White county and bank stock.

There is no monument at the grave of Gen. Canby at Crown hill; nothing but a few wild roses to mark the nodding heap of one of the bravest and best men the country ever produced.

Mr. Thomas Green, formerly connected with the Plainfield reform school, now the visitor for the boys home of Cincinnati, is in the city. His business is to look up homes for the boys of the institution.

The potato trade is taking on huge proportions. In addition to the numerous carloads that rolled into the city yesterday there were no less than 250 wagon loads of this valuable tuber disposed of by neighboring farmers.

Cohen, the South Illinois street auctioneer, desires it to be known that the "kick" made by an innocent on Wednesday, to whom a brass watch had been sold for $16, was not at his house. The questionable transaction took place at another establishment.

A News reporter interrogated Hon. Franklin Landers to-day upon the truth of the report that he was leaving for George W. Julian's appointment to the United States senate. "The report is not true," said Mr. Landers. "I am in favor of a man you can bet on every time when his vote on the grove-back question is needed." "And," queried the reporter, "that man is—" "Dan Voorhees, of course," interrupted Mr. L.

Tom Irvin, who was arrested while trying to break into Stumph's liquor store, was released from custody to-day, the state not being able to make a case of burglary against him, as he had not entered the store. Pierce Norton, who was on the bench, suggested his arrest for conspiring to commit a felony, whereupon J. M. Crosey opened out upon the court in a manner that made the air blue thereabouts for a few minutes. No blood spilt. Norton's suggestion was carried out.

REOPENING OF THE BATES HOUSE.

The Bates house was opened for business last evening at supper, without the formalities of an opening and "blow out," yet those who came to register as guests and those who came out from their homes in the city in spite of the rain, were enough to comfortably fill the house. The one universal comment was: "Well, I would not have believed without seeing it that such a change could have been made. I thought the ceilings were lower than they appear." "Where did you find all this room for your office and lobby?" And many other similar expressions denoting surprise at the wonderful transformation that has taken place. To use a trite saying, the Bates, at least as to its interior, has risen like a Phoenix from its ashes. The old figure is the more apropos because everything of a surface nature was reduced to ashes before the splendid furnishing began with which the interior area now shines. Space would not admit of particularity of description. A feeling of loss tinged with sadness took hold of the public when Mr. Bates allowed the house to be closed over his losses a few months ago, the real look of joy and welcome on the faces of visitors last night was ample compensation for the necessity of letting it close. It was only a little while ago, saying, cutting off every experience, either of the house itself or the defects of management, even to the flippant and aping cognomen and resuming the honest old name of "Bates House." Rival houses who thought of the favorite old hostelry was dead, will now find it was only a sleep, like the animal which sleeps the winter away in his lair, then sheds his old suit and comes out sleek and with fresh life into the spring, the monarch of the woods. You might as well try to reverse the laws of trade, make water run up hill or do any other impossible thing as to make the Bates House anything else than the leading hotel of Indiana. Its location and history render that as certain as fate and the first-class appointments now made fulfill the destiny. The proprietorship in the hands of Mr. Brad Miller is just where it should be for success. Mr. Miller is a born host. The true host is born such, not made, as much as the poet or orator. Mr. W. D. Sapp has been recalled to his old post, and Artie Miller has been made cashier. Among the many new features to be seen all here passed over save the important matter of a reduction in the fare to $3.00 per day, which, in view of the large outlay and splendid furnishings, is a liberal overture which the public will be quick to appreciate and reward. The management accord all the credit to Messrs. Roll & Morris and their artists in paper decorations, for the superb taste shown on the walls, ceilings and the rich carpetings, curtailings, etc. A magnificent grand piano of the George Steck & Co. manufacture, purchased of the state agent, Mr. E. Fuller, 35 E. Wash. st., is said to be superior in tone to any instrument yet seen in the city.

The attention of the public is called to the statement of the Franklin Fire Insurance Company, published below, which has among its directors and stockholders some of the very best citizens of Indianapolis. A careful reading of this statement will convince everybody that this company furnishes the best of fire insurance. Full information concerning rates, payment of losses, etc., can be obtained at the office, southeast corner of Market and Circle streets, or from any of its agents:

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT, JUNE 30, 1877

Capital, $250,000.00.

Assets—
Cash in office and in banks.....	$14,022 37
Stocks and bonds owned by company.....	64,700 00
Real estate—company's buildings and grounds.....	100,000 00
Loans on mortgages, fire insurance.....	34,775 32
Loans on stock and bond collaterals.....	70,570 25
Real estate owned by foreclosure of mortgages.....	16,209 78
Accrued interest.....	5,965 80
Premiums due from agents and city accounts.....	7,150 49
Bills receivable, not due, taken for premium.....	958 75
Stock note secured, subject to call.....	3,584 74
	$323,425 10
Liabilities—
All reported losses adjusted, unadjusted and in suspense.....	$ 7,764 07
Reinsurance reserve.....	29,581 52
All other claims.....	250 00
Total liabilities.....	$ 37,605 59
Capital.....	250,000 00
Total liabilities including capital.....	$287,605 59
Net surplus.....	$35,819 51
	$323,425 10

The foregoing statement does not include $10,873.83 of accounts and notes which are considered doubtful. Were these included our surplus would be $36,391.83. These accounts and notes were charged out for reason that our board of directors does not want anything to appear in our table of assets which is not unquestionably good.

It will be observed that our net surplus is over 50 per cent. of our entire liabilities exclusive of capital. We feel entirely confident that this semi-annual statement will be satisfactory to our friends and patrons.

H. H. LEE'S OPENING AND SALE.

Attention is called to H. H. Lee's advertised opening of his new store, No. 1 Madison avenue, on Saturday, Nov. 3. Mr. Lee has just returned from the east, where he purchased an entire new stock of all the goods that will offer at public sale on Friday, Nov. 2, commencing at 10 a. m., the entire stock remaining in the room in 11 1/2 block, South Meridian street, directly opposite the new store. As this stock, consisting of teas, coffees, sugars, spices, soaps, syrups, canned goods, dried fruits, etc., etc., will be sold for cash in lots to suit purchasers, to the highest bidder, regardless of cost, great bargains may be expected.

LOCAL ITEMS.

A splendid stock of ladies' misses' and children's buttoned and laced shoes just received, all superior goods, at greatly reduced prices, at 21 North Pennsylvania st., Adams building.

C. O. D.—The Fountain white shirt is guaranteed to be greatly superior in make, fit, quality and laundrying to any shirt sold in the order. As to quality it has no equal. Geo. H. Heitkam, No. 13 West Washington street.

Investigation will convince any man of the fact that for men of limited means financially the renewable term policies written by the Franklin Life Insurance Company of this city, offer the most favorable inducements, and unless a man lives to a remarkably old age it is a rare and cheap insurance. This plan, if you are 35 years of age, gives you a $1,000 policy for $15.25 per year, a $5,000 policy for $45.75 per year.

A New Horse.—On Saturday, November 3, Messrs. Huegele & Fowler open a new wholesale and retail oyster, fish and game house, at No. 30 East Market street. These premises have been fitted up expressly for this house, with every facility for carrying on the business successfully. They will keep on hand all kinds of fresh and salt water fish, including fresh mackerel, halibut, blue fish, haddock, steak cod, striped bass, flounders, salmon, bass, lobsters, shrimps, etc., all the game of the season, as well as deep sea and other oysters, all fresh and nice. Fish cleaned and delivered to any part of the city free of charge. All orders promptly filled. Give us a trial. Huegele & Fowler. 11
